

PEMBROKE COLLEGE, OXFORD

Stipendiary Lectureship (Career Development) in Politics (Theory of Politics)

Further Particulars

Subject	Politics (Theory of Politics) You will be required to teach the following courses to undergraduate students of PPE (Philosophy, Politics and Economics) and of History and Politics; and to students on their Junior Year Abroad from Universities in the USA, Hong Kong and China, who are studying politics You must be able to teach the following papers: For First Year courses: Introduction to Politics For Finals: Theory of Politics
College fellow	Professor Stephen Whitefield
Period of appointment	8 January 2024 to 31 August 2025
Duties	You will be involved in the teaching, academic administration and pastoral care of Pembroke's politics students. This will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Organising and delivering the teaching of Pembroke College undergraduates for three contact hours per week, averaged out across three terms of eight weeks in the year, under the direction of Professor Stephen Whitefield.• Setting and marking internal College exams (Collections) to a deadline in 2nd week of term.• Writing end of term reports on the performance of your undergraduates using the web-based TMS system.• Liaising as required with other Fellows and Lecturers in the subject and relevant Joint Schools, as regards the teaching of your undergraduates, and with other College staff about addressing any pastoral problems which may arise amongst your students.• Participating in termly student review meetings and attending the Master's Academic Review for undergraduates in your subject.• Participating in the annual undergraduate admissions exercise.• Taking part in College open days and any other access activities in your subject area.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Attending College events for undergraduates and graduates and entertaining the students in your subject as organised within that subject. • You will also be required to be actively engaged in research and to agree and participate in a career development plan with the support of the college.
Salary	The stipend will be in the range £7,622-£8,492 per annum (pro rata) according to experience and qualifications.
Other benefits	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An entitlement to take some lunches or dinners in college per week • Membership of USS pension scheme • A teaching and research allowance of £605.00 per annum • Use of a teaching room in Pembroke • Mentoring
Selection criteria	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In possession of a doctorate degree in Politics, or close to completion. • Relevant teaching experience and ability to teach some or all of the papers listed above. • Willing and able to undertake the administrative and pastoral duties set out above. • Motivation for personal development and pursuing an academic career in teaching and research
How to apply	Applicants should submit their curriculum vitae and a covering letter electronically to the Academic Office (academichr@pmb.ox.ac.uk) by 12 noon GMT on 15 th November 2023. Please send us the names and contact details of two referees who may be contacted if you are invited to interview. Interviews are planned to be held on or near w/c 27 th November 2023.
About Pembroke College	Pembroke College was founded in 1624 and occupies attractive buildings in central Oxford. Pembroke College is committed to maintaining a vibrant scholarly community combining excellence in teaching and internationally recognised research. The college has a warm and welcoming atmosphere and is home to a dynamic group of early career academics across the disciplines. The current Master is Sir Ernest Ryder, formerly a High Court Judge and President of Tribunals. The College has an undergraduate body of about 350, around 200 graduates, and 30 Visiting Students. The College admits around 8 undergraduates a year to read Politics in the Final Honour Schools of PPE and History and Politics, as well as 10-15 Visiting Students from American, Hong Kong and Chinese universities studying for Politics-related courses.
Right to work	Appointment to this post is dependent on the candidate demonstrating that they have the right to work in the UK. At all times your employment is subject to the provision of original documentation to establish your right to work and remain in the UK, which the College requires in order to comply with its duties under the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006. It will remain

	your responsibility to ensure that you are able to produce such documentation as and when requested from you.
--	--

This role will not attract sufficient points to obtain a sponsored Tier 2 visa under the points based immigration system, however applications are welcome from candidates who do not currently have the right to work in the UK, but who would be eligible to obtain a visa via another route.